INTERGENERATIONAL SHARED SITES

DEFINITION

Intergenerational shared sites are programs where older adults and young people receive services at the same site and both generations interact during regularly scheduled intergenerational activities, as well as through informal encounters. Generations United uses the term “Intergenerational Shared Site”; others refer to these types of programs as intergenerational day care or inter-/multi-generational centers.

OVERVIEW

The use of space by multiple generations not only makes common sense but can be an important solution in helping communities and organizations stretch scarce resources. By constructing innovative facilities that allow for the sharing of resources, intergenerational shared site programs can meet the needs of and improve outcomes for children, youth, and older adults. The current fiscal constraints faced by communities across the nation are forcing many to make tough decisions on the construction and rehabilitation of facilities and the delivery of critical services. Intergenerational shared sites also act as a mechanism to optimize limited resources while helping to address the social implications of an increasingly age-segregated society where children often spend their days in school and/or childcare centers, while many elders socialize in age-isolated facilities.

BENEFITS OF INTERGENERATIONAL SHARED SITES

- Enhances quality of life for all participants
- Provides needed services to the community
- Increases cost savings & opportunities to share resources
- Enhances employee benefits for programs with on-site care
- Attracts additional funding & positive public relations
- Improves attitudes about different age groups

BENEFITS FOR YOUTH/CHILDREN

Young people gain an enhanced perception of the elderly. They benefit from interpersonal relationships with persons from a different age group, who can provide guidance, wisdom and support and have the opportunity to share their unique skills and talents as well. Preschool children involved in intergenerational programs had higher personal/social developmental scores (by 11 months) than preschool children involved in non-intergenerational programs.

BENEFITS FOR OLDER ADULTS

Studies show that sharing activities with younger people promotes positive health gains for older adults such as burning more calories due to exercise, sustaining fewer falls, and a reduction in reliance on canes. Adults with dementia or other cognitive impairments experience more positive affect during interactions with children than they do during non-intergenerational activities and these changes last even after the activity ends.

INTERGENERATIONAL PROGRAM COMPONENTS

Intergenerational shared sites vary in structure, but are generally composed of two components; one that serves the needs of older adults and a second that serves children/youth. In addition, many facilities have designated “shared spaces” that provide additional opportunities for spontaneous intergenerational interaction. The following chart lists common program models and components:

DISTINGUISHED HAWAIIAN SHARED SITES

SEAGULL SCHOOLS

KAPOLEI, HI

- It is one of the state's largest childcare providers, serving approximately 800 children from mixed socio-economic backgrounds.
- Adult Day Center purposefully designed to integrate adult activities with the adjoining preschool.
- The result is a program that mutually benefits young children and older adults in an atmosphere that resembles a small village.

NISEI VETERANS MEMORIAL CENTER

KAHULUI, HI

- Kanska Preschool is co-located with an adult day care facility operated by Maui Adult Day Care Centers.
- Described as a living memorial that reflects the sentiment of many of our veterans: a deeper appreciation of life. They reflect that appreciation for life through their innovative intergenerational center.
- Kanska Preschool is designed for families who want their youngsters to appreciate the richness of lives lived. The children develop bonds of friendship with the seniors, and through these bonds, gain an appreciation for diversity and an insight into the challenges we all face as a part of living.
